SOCI 4096 Honours Thesis Proposal

Students entering the fourth year of the Honours Sociology program, and who are interested in pursuing graduate school or a professional program, may benefit by enrolling in SOCI 4096 Honours Thesis Proposal. This course is restricted to students in the fourth year of the Honours Sociology Program, the completion of 36 credits in Sociology, and the approval of the Department prior to registration.

To fulfill the requirements of SOCI 4096 Honours Thesis Proposal, the student must design and submit a completed research project to be undertaken in SOCI 4097 Honours Thesis. Various forms of research, e.g., surveys, interviews, theoretical enquiries, secondary analyses of existing data or studies may be proposed. A final grade of 75% is required in SOCI 4096 in order to enroll in SOCI 4097 Honours Thesis.

SOCI 4096 Honours Thesis Proposal requires the supervision of a faculty member of the Sociology department. Written work, periodic discussions, and a final research proposal are required.

If you are interested in taking SOCI 4096 Honours Thesis Proposal, please complete this form and return it to a Sociology faculty member prior to February 15.
